INSTITUTE OF INTERNATIONAL STUDIES INTERNATIONAL STUDY PROGRAM (IIS-ISP)

The Institute of International Studies International Study Program provides opportunities for students from selected universities overseas to study at UC Berkeley. Students enroll in the program for either the fall or spring semester or the academic year (late August – May). IIS-ISP oversees students' concurrent enrollment at the university, arranges housing (at International House located adjacent to the UC Berkeley campus), provides advising and other support services, and issues a certificate of completion at the end of the students' stay.

In 2011/12 we could accommodate up to 5 students from your university. The fall semester begins on August 18, 2011 and ends December 16, 2011; the spring term begins January 10, 2012 and ends May 11, 2012. We expect to be able to accommodate additional students from your university in subsequent years.

Admission to the Program

Admission to IIS-ISP is handled by a faculty committee at the International of International Studies and the campus' concurrent enrollment program, following recommendation from the students' home university. Only students in excellent academic standing at their home institutions are selected for participation in the program.

TOEFL*: 220 computer- based, 550 paper-based, or 83 Internet-based (iBT)

TOEIC: 760

Cambridge Certificate of Advanced English: Pass

Exceptions may be made on an individual basis for applicants who have completed a degree at a university in an English-speaking country and for applicants who are citizens of English-speaking nations.

Curriculum

Application for International Students

CONCURRENT ENROLLMENT PROGRAM 2011/12

The Concurrent Enrollment program allows University of California Berkeley faculty to invite international students to study at Berkeley for one or two semesters without applying for admission to a UC Berkeley degree program. The Concurrent Enrollment program is administered by UC Berkeley Extension. The office of International Student Services at UC Berkeley Extension issues the student a Form of Eligibility once he or she completes the attached application. This document, along with pertinent visa information, will be mailed to the student via courier. The student will be required to pay a SEVIS fee before scheduling a visa appointment with the nearest U.S. consulate or embassy in the student's home country to apply for an F-1 student visa for entry into the U.S.

Your acceptance packet will also contain the information about how to apply for your classes. You will need to complete the web application for concurrent enrollment, adding your request for each class for which you are applying. Upon arrival, you should pay your application and course fees so that your application can begin the review process. For any additional information, please call the office of International Student Services directly at (510) 642-2564, fax (510) 643-0216, or e-mail intl_students@unex.berkeley.edu.

F-1 REQUIREMENTS

In accordance with federal regulations governing F-1 students in the U.S., international concurrent enrollment students must follow a full-time and directed course of study. F-1 students must register and enroll in a full course of study at the beginning of each semester. The International Student Services office is required to report electronically to the Department of Homeland Security if an F-1 student fails to enroll 30 days after the program start date. Full-time varies with respect to the level of education. However, most departments require a minimum of 12 units at both Graduate and Undergraduate levels. Directed means that for the most part the student must be studying within a single department. A minority of the student's coursework (one or possibly two courses in some cases) may occur in a separate though closely related department with the special permission of the host faculty at UC Berkeley.

HOST DEPARTMENT AND PROCEDURES

The Concurrent Enrollment program is specially designed to promote reciprocity between UC Berkeley and universities abroad. Prospective students should consult with his own university's study abroad program first. If you choose to be a study abroad exchange student, please do not use this application. To apply to the Concurrent Program, you must be invited by a UC Berkeley department. Along with an invitation letter and a completed application form, the student must submit 4 items to the office of International Student Services: 1) payment for the sum indicated in section 7 of the International Concurrent Enrollment application form (p. 3); 2) certification of sufficient funds available to the applicant or to the applicant's sponsor for payment of the estimated budget in Appendix 2; 3) a copy of the applicant's official TOEFL score report mentioned in section 6 of the International Concurrent Enrollment application form; and 4) a copy of the student's passport. Mail the application to: University of California, Berkeley Extension, International Student Services, 1995 University Avenue, Suite 110, Berkeley, CA 94704-7000.

UC BERKELEY EXTENSION POLICY

Health insurance coverage is required of all F-1 students who receive their nonimmigrant visa document from UC Berkeley Extension. In addition to the fees discussed in Appendix 3 and to the fees indicated in section 7 of the application, a Concurrent Enrollment Application fee will be charged at the time of enrollment.

Please read HTTP://EXTENSION.BERKELEY.EDU/INFO/CONCURRENT.HTML#FAQ for additional information.

If a student originally invited for one semester is invited to stay for a second semester, he or she must apply to the International Student Services office for a "program extension" 30 days before the last day on the I-20.

Finally, there will be an Orientation Session for all international concurrent enrollment students held shortly before the beginning of each semester. Important F-1 regulations, enrollment procedure and health insurance coverage will be discussed at the orientation, and students' photos for the school photo I.D. will be taken.

Attending this Orientation Session is mandatory.
